All we ask is to be let alone. So say these seceded States, and it is quite modest in appearance. Certainly we ought to let people alone generally, if they desire it. But it is well to consider the claim to be let alone a little. All the Federal Government asked of these States was to be let alone. It wanted its courts in the Slave States, its forts, custom-houses, arsenals, arms and ammunition to be let alone. All Major Anderson, in Fort Sumter, asked, was to be let alone. Indeed, people would be let alone, and can't be let alone, and the reason is, we have no money; and the reason, after he has committed the crime, would like to be let alone—it's all he would ask of judge or jury. It one wishes to be let alone, he should let other people's rights alone, and then he will have a better chance to be granted. These runaway States seem to think that the other States have no rights involved in the contest; that they can let them alone and lose nothing; and that the resistance to Secession is wanton and tyrannical. What an absurd delusion will occupy small heads can comprehend but one idea at a time! According to our reading, the people of every State in this Union have constitutional rights in every other, which it would be marvellous, indeed, if they were willing to surrender. It would be strange if our States had been willing to unite if the people of each acquired, thereby, no rights in the other; strange if we should take such an interest in acquiring territory, and admitting new States, into the Union, if the older States acquired no rights by the process, that they might not be expected to surrender willingly.

The Northern, as well as the Southern States still in the Union, have rights in every seceded State of the highest value. They have a right of transit, and travel, and settlement, without changing their allegiance, or losing a single right they had at home, except what every citizen of the State they migrated to was deprived of. They were everywhere in the seceded States equal citizens. They had the right of free trade, unmolested, from one end of the Union to the other; it is all their country, under the same flag. They have a right to free, unmolested, correspondence. In time of war, they have a right to the aid of these seceded States; the right to all their coast defenses and means of transportation. They have a right to protection by the courts of the United States, under a free Constitution, in every part of these States that have run away.

We acquired Louisiana, not only for the sake of the rights enumerated, but for the sake of enjoying the highway of trade—the Mississippi to its mouth—without interference. "By any power but our own, and to enjoy the blessings of free trade and settlement there," as a part of our own country. This is a right of inestimable value. We bought it and paid for it. We have spent vast sums in protecting it, and settlements, and improving these highways of trade. Free States, as well as Slave States, have incurred the expense, and have a right to the profit, without the permission of "the few who live on its borders. It's ours as much as theirs, and their attempt to appropriate it is mere robbery.

It is only sixteen years since we acquired Texas. We did not conquer it. Her people came at their own request. The acquisition cost us a vast sum, and the protection of its frontier from savages has cost us a vast sum annually. It was all cheap, provided we got what we paid for. But if these States propose, at their discretion, to bag the whole of our rights, interests and profits, and then ask to be let alone, we must protest against their modesty. This high pretentious conduct, to appropriate all their rights where they are located to themselves, to join, if they please, foreign and even hostile nations, or make alliances with them against us, and make a highway for an enemy to the heart of our country over the soil we have bought and paid for, and through communities we have protected and built up until they have become numerous enough to be insolent, and then demand, with great innocence, to be let alone, is the poorest we ever read of.

Restore our rights and our interests, the people of every State in this Union may well say to them, and we will let you alone. The right of secession, indeed! If it exist, it can't be the monstrous thing it is, if the present construction is put upon it.

Could the troops of a State drop their flag and leave on the eve of battle, because they are just informed officially that the State had seceded, and, at the same time, bear away all the arms, ammunition and munitions of war they could lay hands on? Is this included in the right of secession? If we "should acquire Cuba, at an expense of two hundred million dollars, and admit her into the Union, could her people secede next year, at a join Spain again? Would we, indeed, we the people North and South, be willing to surrender all our rights thus acquired? How much gliding and monstrous is the case of Texas now before us? If we can't find authority in the Constitution to protect ourselves from wrongs like these, we can find it in the law of nations, or the great principles of justice. No rational right of secession can include this monstrous right to rob and steal.

It is true we are not engaged now in a foreign war—it is not desertion just on the eve of battle—and these States did not run away the year after they were acquired; but we are all engaged in the great progress of civilization. The ties that bind us are the work of generations. The rights that the people of this Union have acquired and enjoyed in every State, are the basis of vast investments and improvements, the success of which depends on the security of these rights; and this desertion is not a whit less criminal than the desertion on the eve of a conflict of arms.

No people ever gave up such rights with out compulsion. They must be taken by the sword; they will never be surrendered peacefully.

The stars and stripes are not an empty symbol. They represent vast realities at home, and a power abroad, that commands the respect of all nations. This is for the benefit of every man, woman and child in the Union, whether he lives in Massachusetts or Louisiana; and the mass of them will never consent that that power shall be permanently divided and destroyed.

It is not a question of slavery that starts up armies. That is but the imp that chatters and shrieks in the mist of mischief. It is a camp-follower that molests both parties, to plunder their rights and their power as a free people.

The armies of the North are moving for something else; for the preservation of a Government and the integrity of rights they have always had and are not willing to surrender.

Does Kentucky sympathize with this attempt to break up the Government? Did Kentucky see any cause for it? Without a good reason, the attempt is a monstrous one; and Kentucky saw no good reason. Will she make herself a party to the crime?

VOTE THE WHOLE TICKET.

Recollect to-day to vote for every man on the Union ticket. Don't scratch a name. They are all true men, and each as this State can trust in the present crisis. Vote for every man on the ticket.

Secession. The right of secession is, of course, popular in the seceded States. Men will be sure to maintain the right of secession, when they feel or think they have a good reason for it. Virginia, in 1798, felt indignant at the Federal Government, and passed resolutions that looked like assuming the right to secede, and most likely some meant it, and thought they believed it. Mr. Madison afterward explained away that meaning of these resolutions. Virginia, upon reflection, didn't want to secede; and no man generally do on such questions, believed as she felt.

Massachusetts didn't believe a word in secession in 1798. She was indignant at the absurdity. But during the war of 1812, when Virginia had the Administration, Massachusetts felt she would like to secede, and that the right to do so was pretty good.

A member from Boston declared, over the bill to admit Louisiana, that if it passed, it would free the States from moral obligation, and as it would be the moral of it, it would be the duty of some to prepare for separation, peacefully if they could, violently if they must. Virginia was struck with horror. The organ at Richmond couldn't suppress or express its outraged feelings. Spencer Roane, the leader of the State Rights party of Virginia, declared that "secession was treason!" And every body South echoed treason, and everybody was going to whip New England out of her boots, if she attempted to commit the crime, she did about it seriously, and would have attempted it, if the war hadn't stopped suddenly in a blaze of glory.

We may write it down certainly that when we feel we have a good reason to secede, we shall begin to believe in the right, or think we do; for men have a happy faculty of believing what they want to.

Harper's Weekly has come out more ferocious for war than some intensified sheets. It out-Herods Herod. It advises three armies, one hundred thousand men each, to make very short work of the rebels; and deals in blood with a cool, calculating assurance that would be luxury to Marat or Danton. We thought General Webb was in the lead in these military matters; but Webb "all have to try again. Harper is ahead of him. The South is to be used up by January, 1862, no mistake. It can be done easily, Harper thinks.

Now, we can assure the said Harper, that the process will be tiresome and unhealthy. Suffering and sorrow follow the path of war, and both sections will soon be sick of it. This madness can't last. It will break down. It will soon cost more blood and treasure than men have to spare. Many a mother or sister has sent a son or brother in hope to glory, not to be killed. The tears and cries after one bloody battle will be mournful music. These rights—ah! these rights talked about; this sectional hate—it is no right at all—stimulated by disappointed politicians; that, mothers and sisters, is to cost the blood of your sons and brothers.

Remember that to-day Commissioners of Peace are to be elected. Let every friend of peace, and every one who desires the restoration of the Union, vote to-day, whatever else he neglects to do. It is the great duty of the day.

Don't be deceived by the notion that it is not worth while to vote to-day, as the men you desire to be elected will be elected. Go and vote, as if every man that stays at home was your opponent.

Remember, Union men, that your opponents have nothing to count on but your apathy. Let them be disappointed in that.

Kentucky ought to poll not less than one hundred thousand votes to-day. Work for it to the close of the polls.

Men, I have now proceeded to comply with the promise I made you when last we met, viz: to give you some particulars relative to the grounds on which the pending campaign in this county for the election of delegates to the Border State Convention are being conducted.

The people, as it respects Union and Disunion, may be divided into four distinct classes:

First, The unconditional Unionists, who are willing to remain in the Union under the existing constitution, without any additional guaranties. This class say that they desire the Crittenden propositions to be engrafted in the constitution in order to secure to the South the acknowledged rights under the constitution, and as a means of quieting the public mind in the new order of things resulting from the election of a sectional President and Congress, and in the event that the Northern States fail to accept these propositions as amendments to the constitution they will remain in the Union with the Corwin amendment and the doctrine of non-intervention as applied to the public part of all the territory belonging to the United States rather than secede and go with the Southern Confederacy.

They claim that Kentucky has no just grounds of complaint on which to predicate a prior secession, having received all she ever contended for from the General Government in the organization of the territories. With the two assurances that their rights shall never be violated in the territories nor in the States of the Union, they think it would be fool policy upon their design to secede, were they not restrained by the presence of public sentiment.

The war news has but little if any effect on the people as yet. I can't see why it should have any effect as regards the election of delegates to the Border State Convention, because both the contending parties profess that they are in favor of making an honorable effort to preserve the Union, and any move the Southern Rights party make to secede, they will be regarded as traitors to the Union.

Second, The conditional Unionists, who are in favor of secession provided the Northern States reject the Crittenden compromise or any equivalent the South may present. While they frankly admit the fact that the Republican party have, by many a move, applied the provisions of the Kansas bill to all the territory belonging to the Federal Government, yet doubt the purity of the motives from which said party act, and therefore they are not inclined to be liberal and national in their policy. It may be, say they, that the Republicans have made these concessions to the South as a substitute and as an excuse for voting against the Crittenden compromise, or for the purpose of keeping the border States in the Union, and when peace and confidence are again restored between the two sections they will fall back upon their old doctrine of the congressional prohibition of slavery in the Territories, and thus at no distant period the border States of Kentucky will be the only States in the Union that will remain in the Union.

Third, The secessionists, who are in favor of secession for no reason at all, and who are willing to secede at any time, and for any cause, and who are willing to secede at any time, and for any cause, and who are willing to secede at any time, and for any cause.

Fourth, The Unionists, who are in favor of the Union, and who are willing to remain in the Union under the existing constitution, without any additional guaranties.

These four classes are the only ones that are in the Union, and who are willing to remain in the Union under the existing constitution, without any additional guaranties.

are both rank Abolitionists, and ought to be hung without judge or jury.

But, Mr. Editor, I have not time or space to write out all the arguments used by the seceding gentlemen who say they are for the Union upon the conditions that the North grant to the South the Crittenden propositions, and that the seceding States return. I have only given you a few of the most prominent and convincing ones which it has been my good fortune to hear. If, however, you will add to the given the arguments urged by Mr. Breckinridge in his Frankfort speech, which are of a similar character, you can form a correct idea of the manner in which they attempt to prove their soundness on the Union question, and the sincerity of their professions. You will have no difficulty in ascertaining to them the credit of having drank largely of the emble spirit which animated Mr. Breckinridge and his disciples during the last presidential campaign, and they proclaim just such unalloyed loyalty to the Union.

McLean county will give the Crittenden and Guthrie ticket a large majority, war or no war. The seceding gentlemen are pledged to no course of policy by which the honor and interest of Kentucky can be possibly compromised.

Kentucky ought not, will not, resort to secession before the necessity for such a move shall arise, and the people are willing to remain in the Union with the Crittenden compromise, and the man who entertains similar views to determine when that necessity shall arise. The Southern Rights party say the necessity now exists; that it existed a year ago. They want a just measure of our national difficulties, and would not be so foolish as to surrender their design to secede, were they not restrained by the presence of public sentiment.

The war news has but little if any effect on the people as yet. I can't see why it should have any effect as regards the election of delegates to the Border State Convention, because both the contending parties profess that they are in favor of making an honorable effort to preserve the Union, and any move the Southern Rights party make to secede, they will be regarded as traitors to the Union.

Telegraphic News. FREDERICK, Md., May 2.—The following is an abstract of the report of the Committee on Federal Relations, to the Assembly, on the subject of a communication from the Mayor of Baltimore, relative to the early restoration of railroad communication between Baltimore and other points:

The Committee considered the interruption of travel to be an important matter, but facilities for invasion were offered to families and excited multitudes from the North, who publicly threaten our destruction, it could hardly be consistent with prudence to repair their channels of intercourse with the Southern States.

They cannot be effectually reestablished without guarantees from some quarter for the safety and peace of Maryland. The report advises upon the course of the Federal Government, in dealing with the Annapolis, and setting the road to Washington, and considers such a course as being treated as a conquered province, and it is, therefore, the duty of the Legislature to ascertain the position which the General Government is determined to occupy towards this State.

The committee conclude with the following resolution: That commissioners be appointed to confer with President Lincoln, with regard to the present, and any proposed military use and occupation of the State by the General Government, and also to ascertain and report whether any arrangements are practicable for the maintenance of the peace and honor of Maryland. Adopted by both the Houses.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—An application has just been made by some of the diplomatic corps at the State Department. The following points were ascertained: First—Vessels in the blockaded ports, when the blockade took effect, will be allowed a reasonable time to depart. Second—Vessels bringing immigrants, though they had no notice of the blockade at the time of their departure, will not be allowed to enter the blockaded ports—that of persons coming to the United States chiefly to settle in the upper States of the Mississippi river, and it will be better for them to enter an open port than encounter the dangers incident to the transportation.

A dispatch from Raleigh says the Legislature met yesterday. The assembly was speedily organized. A bill calling a Convention was passed unanimously. It will assemble on the 20th. There was no feasting in the hall referring the action to the people. The Southern Confederacy flag is flying over the Capitol. North Carolina is virtually out of the Union.

The Governor has organized a camp of instruction at Raleigh. He says the Northern Government is now constructing a large force in the District of Columbia, ostensibly to protect the seat of Government, but such a force cannot be allowed to remain within the limits of Maryland, or a feeling of brotherhood existing, as well as common interest requires, us to exert our energies in defense of Maryland and Virginia. Every battle fought there will be a battle fought in behalf of North Carolina, and there our troops should be speedily sent.

Col. Ellsworth's Fire Engines arrived to-day, and were enthusiastically received. The Petersburg Express of to-day, says that a Kentucky regiment of 400 men is en route for Lynchburg.

Montreal, April 3.—There is nothing further concerning the wreck of the steamship "The City," which was wrecked on the coast of Virginia. Two steamers have left to render assistance.

WASHINGTON, May 3.—From private information, believed to be reliable, it is ascertained that Virginia herself does not meditate an attack on Washington, the subject being for the consideration of the Confederate States.

CORRESPONDENCE.

BETWEEN THE GOVERNOR OF OHIO AND THE GOVERNOR OF KENTUCKY.

TO HIS EXCELLENCY, HON. BISHOP MAGOFFIN, GOVERNOR OF KENTUCKY.

Sir: This note will be presented to you by my friend, the Hon. M. K. Key, a Democratic member of the Ohio Senate, who is a native Kentuckian, and a gentleman of the highest honor and intelligence. Judge Key is thoroughly conversant with the condition of affairs in this State, and the assurance he will give you of the sincere desire of the people of Ohio that nothing may occur to interrupt the kindly and neighborly feeling of the people of these States, you can rely upon absolutely, both as the expression of their sentiments and my own.

A very brief acquaintance with him will satisfy you that you can freely confer with him in regard to the condition of the people upon our common border, and as to the proper means of restoring all application of strife between them. It is my most earnest wish that the action of both States may be animated by the same complete devotion to the Constitution and Union of the United States, and to the maintenance of peace and in preserving national conditions between our people, I have desired Judge Key to visit you on this whole matter. Judge Key will express my sentiments and I sincerely hope you will further his patriotic desire by conferring frankly and fully with him.

With the greatest respect, I remain, Sir, your obedient servant, (Signed) Wm. Dennison, Governor of Ohio.

REPORT OF HON. THOS. M. KEY, MEMBER OF THE OHIO SENATE, APRIL 23, 1861.

Hon. Wm. Dennison, Governor of Ohio: Sir: At your request I now reduce to writing a report of the result of my interview with Gov. Magoffin, at Louisville, Ky., on the 20th inst. At a very late hour on the night previous I delivered to him your communication, dated on the 18th, and he appointed nine o'clock of the next morning for our meeting, which was called at his room, and we remained alone in conversation for a long time, the details of which I have verbally reported to you on my return. Our conversation was very protracted, covering the general relations of the two States at the time, and the points upon which there was fear of a collision between their citizens, but its substance may be briefly given. I stated to Gov. Magoffin that I came as a messenger from you, for the purpose of expressing cordially to express your regret that any circumstances should threaten the continuance of the good understanding and friendly relations which had always existed between Ohio and Kentucky, and your desire to determine upon to employ your legislative authority to prevent any attack or aggression by citizens of Ohio against the State or people of Kentucky, and your readiness to give immediate attention to any complaint which he might cause to be brought to your notice.

At the same time I informed him in the most explicit terms that you and all the people and resources of Ohio were subject, and would be devoted to the support of the Constitution and laws of the United States, and to the maintenance of whatever policy should be determined upon by the General Government; that my errand had nothing in view beyond the opening of friendly relations between the two States, and the Executive of the two States. Gov. Magoffin, in reply, expressed his very great gratification in receiving a messenger from you.

His earnest hope that peaceful relations may continue between the people of the two States—his determination to exert his Executive power to restrain any conduct by citizens of Kentucky which may be offensively construed by citizens of Ohio, especially his firm purpose to permit nothing to be done which could be believed as menacing the safety of the city of Cincinnati, and his desire for immediate communication with you on any occurrence which should disturb public order, or tend to excite unfriendly feelings.

Gov. Magoffin, at the conclusion of our interview, requested me to express his respect and regard for you personally. I deem it proper to say that my mind was very much impressed with the belief that whatever might be the individual opinions of Gov. Magoffin, it was his purpose to use his best efforts for the avoidance by Kentucky, of all offense against Ohio until the people of Kentucky should determine the final policy of their State in relation to the existing troubles of the country.

(Signed) Very respectfully, THOS. M. KEY.

TO HIS EXCELLENCY, HON. BISHOP MAGOFFIN, GOVERNOR OF KENTUCKY.

Sir: I have your dispatch of yesterday, and will communicate with you in relation to it through my friend Col. Noah H. Swayne, of this city, who will meet you in a day or two. Where will be found, say on Monday? W. DENNISON.

effort to bring about a truce between the General Government and the seceded States, until the meeting of Congress in extraordinary session, in the hope the action of that body may be such as to lead to a peaceful solution of our national troubles.

In reply I have to remark that, believing the General Government to be wholly in the right, I can see no reason for the interposition suggested. If it be desired by Gov. Magoffin, I will cordially unite with him in an appeal to the seceded States at once to return to the allegiance to the Government of the Union, and thus terminate the difficulties which their conduct has brought upon the country. Any other peaceful solution is impossible. A truce would only aggravate the impending evils. Please submit this communication to the Hon. Gov. Magoffin.

With great respect, very truly yours, W. DENNISON.

Special Notices.

CLARK'S NEW RESTAURANT.—W. A. Clark respectfully informs his friends in particular, and the public in general, that he has opened a restaurant, on the European style, on the second floor of his house on Fourth street, between Main and Market, which will be conducted in the most appropriate style, as is generally due to the restaurants of this kind on the old continent, in consequence of which he will endeavor to give to the customers who will be kind enough to patronize him, all the satisfaction and attention which is required on such occasions. Monsieur Francois Gervais, late of Pargy's has the immediate charge of the restaurant. The restaurant will be furnished with every delicacy and luxury of the season, such as fruit, vegetables, fish, fowl and game.

At a time when there is great fear that the stock of dry lumber, sash, doors, blinds, &c., will fall, owing to the vast amount of improvements in Louisville, it will be interesting to the public to know that Alexander, Ellis & Co., have enlarged their factory and have now on hand several million of dry lumber. Call at their office on Main street, nearly opposite the Galt House, or at their factory on Fulton, above Preston street.

J. N. Collins sells the best of coal at his office, Third street, between Market and Jefferson. Give him your orders.

Dr. Shallenberger.—Dear Sir: I have to state that your Fever and Ague Antidote is daily growing into favor, and needs no puffing to recommend it, as its own merits are sufficient, wherever a trial has been made. I believe it has never failed where the administration has been proceeded with in accordance with the directions. It is a pleasure to sell medicines that meet the expectation of purchasers and give satisfaction, and as such I am proud to recommend your Pills.

Dr. McLean's Strengthening Cordial is receiving the unanimous recommendation of the Press, not only at St. Louis, but all over the country. This remedy is evidently the result of close observation and study. Wherever it has been used it has been recommended with the highest encomiums of praise. Persons can have no conception of its efficacy, without giving it a trial. Once more we warmly recommend this remedy as a superior tonic and alterative.

"Let good digestion wait on appetite," is a wish that none appreciate more than those who have neither the one nor the other. How many expedients are in vogue now-a-days to raise an appetite—guinies and its "substitutes," various in form, but alike dangerous and hurtful, throw the system into the outer extreme, and the "last state" of that man is worse than the first; not so, however, is it with WRIGHT'S REVIVIFYING ELIXIR, which is a powerful tonic and restorative, and after recuperating the tone of the stomach, leaves it in a healthy and vigorous condition.

Sold by all respectable druggists throughout the United States and Canada. J. WRIGHT & CO., sole proprietors, New Orleans, Louisiana. See advertisement.
